

DESIGNERS TODAY

style. substance. soul.

MAY / JUNE 2020

MORE FOR THE OUTDOORS

The outdoors—the perfect place to socially distance, and it may as well be done in style. From lush velvet to braided rope and organic shapes, here are a few high-performance products that celebrate nature, classic details and comfort.

1 Mokum responds to the desire for bringing soft interior aesthetics outside with its Club Tropicalia outdoor velvet collection, in leaf prints, stripes and solids.

2 Sol, Lancaster's first outdoor collection, featuring thermally treated ash frames and fully encased impermeable cushioning, sits like luxury indoor upholstery.

3 BuzziSpace's verve for plein air living inspired BuzziBreeze, a modern aluminum and steel take on the traditional farm table, available in standard table and bar heights.

4 Club Teak sectional pieces from Summer Classics are constructed from sturdy, marine-grade teak. Two corner pieces are shown here.

5 From Ratana, the Ria dining side chair has a lightweight open weave rope back and braided rope detailing available in black, brown, gray or aluminum.

6 Elitis' Disco collection rug is made of three-bound braids assembled together, almost entirely by hand. Made mostly of PET with a latex backing.

7 The timeless rocking chair gets ultra-modern with Huey, Tonik's one-piece construction made of high-impact polyethylene. Available in 16 colors and two seating heights.

8 From latesta Studio, the Ionic bench is made of steel and is available in custom sizes and finishes.

9 Arper expands its Leaf collection with a chaise longue shown in matte powder-coated steel. A detachable outdoor-suitable cushion is also available and mimics the leaf-shape.